Hi John,

I am seeking concurrence for the small mine permit bond that Red Leaf is closing out. The small mine permit is 4.97 acres within the foot print of the large mine permit. The bond amount is $183,301. As you know, the large mine is now approved and covered under its own bond $3,776,000. The company has decided to close this small mine permit and operate the area under the large mine permit. As such, they are requesting a bond release on the small mine permit.

I am seeking your concurrence to release this bond. You recently approved the release of the exploration permit E/47/0062. This should now close out all their active permits, except for the large mine permit. Please review the documents I've attached and if you have questions, please call me.
